Welcome Mat Placed For Wang Laboratories

By Tim Greene

Andover's industrial climate, well nurtured in recent years, was further furrowed in a new area this week by Wang Laboratories.

The Merrimack Valley based computer industry won approval and support for development of 106 acres of industrially zoned land off River Road, near the Greater Lawrence Regional Vocational school land, extending toward Lawrence.

Monday night, Andover's Industrial Development Finance Authority, gave preliminary approval to $10 million in industrial development bonds, which would permit purchase of the West Andover acreage and construction of a 200,000 square foot industrial building for Wang. Over a three-to-five year period, the new facility could provide employment for up to 1,000.

The IDFA action, coupled with approval by the state Industrial Finance Authority, allows firms to obtain financing at lower interest rates.

Wang, which makes word processors, computer systems for small and large businesses and integrated information, systems, has experienced 50 percent growth for the past several years, Wang Vice-President and General Counsel Edward Grayson told selectmen, and "it is incumbent on us to look to the future."

The $10 million approved is the largest amount a single company can ask for in one community for a period of three years, said Dr. Lawrence Speigel, industrial development chairman.

With approval of the Andover industrial development finance authority, chaired by Speigel, and the selectmen behind them, Wang will go ahead with purchase of the parcel within 45 days, according to Grayson.

Of the 106 acres, 85 are in Andover and include 33 acres known as the Doyle property north of River Road and east of the Vocational and Technical High School, and 52 acres owned by Landover Realty Trust which runs east from the Doyle property to the Lawrence city line.

Grayson said Wang had options to buy the land, but held off the purchase until the preliminary industrial bond approval was given. With approval given ahead of time, Wang can buy now with a conventional

Cole Hardware Expands

By Robert E. Finneran
Editor

If you need a whatzis for a thingamabob, more than likely Milt Cole has it.

Or, if its not in stock, he'll have it within a week.

Further if Milt doesn't have it, or can't get it, you probably don't need it.

It is with that type of business philosophy that R. Milton Cole, a 30-year member of Andover's business community began a major expansion of his Main street hardware store this week.

The major addition, due to double the capacity of the present store, is under construction in the rear of the building and is expected to be completed by early April.

The new addition will make all lines currently carried better organized and displayed. The plumbing department will be enlarged as will the housewares section. There will be a larger bath department, more contemporary kitchen ware, open space for floor displays, room for wallpaper selection and a do-it-yourself lumber section.

Milt has been expanding his business for the past 30 years, or, since he began in the 1950 with just paint and wallpaper in a store further up Main street, now occupied by Smitty's Sandwich shop.

Cole has been an Andover business booster throughout his career, and his decision to expand emphasizes that feeling.

The desire to be an independent

Transfer Policy Established; Bus Future Bright

Randolph W. Lehman-Becker
Andover Representative
Merrimack Valley
Regional Transit Authority

The Merrimack Valley Regional Transit Authority's Advisory Board has passed a system wide transfer policy that will extend the privileges now given in Haverhill to the Greater Lawrence system as well. Pending the technical aspects necessary to implement the policy, the bus system that serves Andover on two weekday and one Saturday routes will provide free transfer for the basic fare onto the other lines in the system.

For the Andover resident, this will mean that the basic 30¢ fare (15¢ for elderly) will enable one to travel not only along the Andover, North Andover, Lawrence routes, but will provide connections to such places as Methuen Mall, Bon Secours Hospital, Methuen Square, North Andover Mall, and other points along the routes. Already the connections of the various lines exist at the downtown Lawrence transfer station; soon transfers will cut the cost to ride when gas is already costing you too much.

For those planning a trip via a change of bus in Lawrence, the transfer station, located on both the Essex Street and Common Street sides of the block at the Intown Mall, provides an indoor place for waiting, and convenient connection to all Lawrence area lines as well as the Haverhill intercity route. A full map/schedule of the service is available at Memorial Hall Library in Andover.

In turning to the future, the directors of the transit authority have prepared a comprehensive planning schedule for future capital development. With commuter rail now in place, and capital needs minimized for that service at the present time, they have turned to bus transit as the next priority.

Already new buses have been ordered for both the Haverhill and Lawrence systems. Other plans call for a centralized maintenance facility, renewal of existing buses to provide more peak hour service on all lines, better signage at boarding points, shelters at key locations, and more.

The future may well entail some changes in the commuter rail schedules station locations and service levels, but the next major change in the transit authority will probably be an ability to provide more buses, newer buses, and renovated buses so peak hour riders will have less than a 30 minute wait for service.

Watch for the announcement that the transfers are coming to our bus service, and get ready for a future of improved bus service to Andover.

Finding productive employment for people needing jobs was the U.S. Department of Labor's "top priority" during the 1978 fiscal year, according to the annual report of Secretary of Labor Ray Marshall.

Meeting Place Stays The Same

Selectmen agreed Monday not to change their meeting places because doing so would not change the amount of fuel used.

At the request of the Finance Committee, the board considered moving their meetings to the high school which is heated for some night activities now. That way, the FinCom thought, the Memorial Hall and the town hall conference rooms would not have to be heated at night to keep the selectmen warm.

Town Manager Jared S. A. Clark said the heat for both meeting places is turned off in the afternoon, and is not turned back on for their meetings.

The conference room in town hall, recently winterized, stays warm until late in the evening, Chairman Edward M. Harris noted.

"It's ten minutes to ten," Harris said, "and one of our members just took his coat off, and I'm about to take mine off, too."

Restaurant Gets Reprimand

Selectmen issued a formal reprimand to the Andover Jade for alleged liquor law violations on Nov. 29, 1979.

The case stemmed from allegations by Andover police that five minors were served alcoholic beverages by the Jade.

Tom Seto, manager of the Jade, said at a December hearing that the minors were served liquor, but the waitress who served them did not know they were underage. The minors allegedly left the Jade without paying their bill after allegedly assaulting the night manager.

A letter telling of the reprimand will be sent to the alcoholic beverage control board in Boston.

Town Meeting Date Changed

Selectmen voted Monday to establish April 14, 1980 as the opening day of the town meeting business session.

The date was set a week later than originally planned to allow the warrant to remain open until 4 p.m., Jan. 29, 1980. Town Manager Jared S. A. Clark said that he would need until then to finish writing warrant articles to be inserted by the town and have them reviewed by selectmen at their Jan. 28 meeting.

Ten Drawn For Jury Duty

The names of ten Andover residents were chosen by selectmen Monday night for placement in the jury pool for Essex County.

Chosen were: George A. Benananti, 12 Whispering Pines; Suzanne M. Cleveland, 130 Holt Road; Richard L. Ingram, 398

North Main St.; Claire M. Gauthier, 365 High Plain Road; William H. Batchelder, 17 Burton Farm Drive; Suzanne C. Scarpulla, 3 Olde Berry Road; Arnold H. Sharrow, 3 Lancaster Place; Robert D. Ross, Jr., 10 William St.; Dana C. Hirst, 2 Woodhill road; Gertrude Beckwith, 10 Crescent Drive.

Proclamation Issued

Selectmen issued two proclamations Monday.

According to one proclamation, January 1980 was named March of Dimes and Birth Defects Month. The other named, Jan. 6 to Jan. 13, 1980 United Cerebral Palsy week.

Reforms Endorsed

A summary of recent Civil Service Commission hearings regarding civil service reforms was endorsed by selectmen Monday.

Town Manager Jared S. A. Clark, who testified at the hearings in Methuen, sought the selectmen's support.

Gong Show Talent Search

The Department of Community Services will open its 1980 Andover Series with the 'Wrong Gong Show' on Saturday, March 29.

If you have a special talent, or if you and a couple of friends have just the right comedy routine which you would like to share with your fellow townspeople, come on down to audition at the West Elementary School on Sunday, Jan. Jan. 27 at 1 p.m. Entrants should bring all necessary music for their act to the audition.

A community-known panel will judge the entries the evening of the show. All forms of entertainment will be encouraged. Cash prizes will be awarded to the following categories: best and most unusual talent — individuals; best and most unusual talent — social and service organizations; best and most unusual talent — corporate entries.

Census Office Is Open

Arthur G. Dukakis, Regional Director, U.S. Department of Commerce, Bureau of the Census, has announced office space for the 1980 Census temporary district office has been leased in Lawrence.

The office is located at the Former W. T. Grant Building, 350 Essex St., Lawrence, MA 01842 and contains 9100 square feet.

Dukakis stated that the office will be open for business in January. It will remain open until census operations are completed some time during the second quarter of the year.

Approximately 700 temporary employees will work out of the office Dukakis said. Hiring for most of the positions will begin early this year.

The 1980 Census will be taken largely by the mail-out, mail-back method. On Friday, March 28, 1980 the Postal Service will deliver a census questionnaire to each U.S. household. Residents will be asked to complete the questionnaire and return it four days later, on Tuesday, April 1.

ACT To Audition For Play

ACT, Andover Community Theater, sponsored by the Andover Recreation Department, will present the "Madwoman of Chaillot" for its Spring production in April.

Auditions for the play will be held Thursday, Jan. 17 and Friday, Jan. 18 from 7 to 9:30 p.m. in the Meeting Hall of the Andover Memorial Library.

The "Madwoman of Chaillot," an off-beat crazy comedy, requires a large cast of varied talents. Several specialty parts are needed such as a juggler, street musicians and a mime. ACT invites all interested area people to participate in the auditions. Contact the president of ACT, Marshall Darling, or the director, Kim Enders, for further information.

businessman brought Milt to Andover to begin his smaller operation in 1950 from a position as chief paint chemist and operations manager for the Lynch Paint Co., East Providence, R.I.

The town was a lot smaller then, a population of about 10,000, compared to today's 26,000 plus.

His decision to add on was based on the premise that "We've tried to keep up with the town and now is the time to give Andover and Main street the best, most complete hardware and housewares store around.

"The trend to less traveling and more buying locally was shown during the past Christmas season. With everything available here, we expect the trend to continue. Andover is a great place to do business," Milt said.

In 1970, Milt and his wife, Virginia, bought the building at Main and Park streets, along with the property to the rear of the building which now permits the expansion program.

His initial move to the present location was in 1954 when he occupied space in the Barnard building and a few years later was able to acquire the former Look Photo location next door. One Saturday night Milt took a sledge hammer to the wall between the two stores and expanded his Main street paint, hardware and gift store operation.

The original location had been occupied by a First National store for many years, and Cole continued to answer questions about the price of bread and milk for some time before older residents became more accustomed to hammers and nails.

Cole fulfilled his ambition to be his own boss at the age of 29, coming to Andover with his wife and three young children in 1950 to begin his business career.

A graduate of Worcester Polytechnic Institute, he served in World War II as a U. S. Navy officer. In addition to employment with the Lynch Paint Co., Cole also was a paint chemist with Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co., in Newark, N. J. and a research and development chemical engineer for Columbia Chemical Co. in Ohio.

Wang

bank loan and refinance the purchase at lower interest rates when the industrial development bonds are sold at the time of construction, according to Spiegel.

If the land was purchased before the preliminary approval, the $10 million could only pay for construction costs.

The Andover facility, which will not be built for three to five years, may be as large as 200,000 square feet, Grayson said.

Other Wang building projects are scheduled for completion first, including ones in Tewksbury in 1980 and Lowell in 1981.

Grayson said the purchase will mark the end of a two and a half year search for land to build on. The Andover site was chosen, he said, because it has easy access to Wang's other facilities via Routes 3, 495 and 93.

"We see the Merrimack Valley — Andover, Lowell, Lawrence — as the place we would like to remain," he said.

Members of the industrial development commission and selectmen asked the Wang representatives about where on the property they would build, which road they would use for primary access and whether Wang would consider turning their land fronting the Merrimack River into conservation land.

The Wang representatives called their building plans "indefinite" at this time.

John Lefebvre, an attorney representing Wang, asked if there were any plans to widen River Road, but industrial development members did not know.

Spiegel said a seven-eighths clover leaf interchange was planned, however, for River Road at Interstate 93, consisting of three circular ramps and a straight "slip ramp."

Special Concert Sunday

A program of Baroque and Classical chamber music for flute, violin and keyboard will be given on Sunday, Jan. 13 at 3 p.m. in the Addison Gallery on the Phillips Academy campus.

This is a faculty-student recital by:

William F. Naboe, flutist, of the class of 1980, was warmly received in a similar program last year. He has been principal flutist with the Symphonic Wind Ensemble in his home town of Laramie, Wyoming, and has been solo flutist with the P.A. Chamber Orchestra.

Violinist, William Schneider of the Phillips Academy Music Department faculty, well known to concert audiences in this area. In past seasons he has been concert master and soloist with the Reading Symphony Orchestra and The Merrimack Valley Philharmonic.

Carolyn Skelton, Phillips Academy organist. She will be heard on Sunday as harpsichordist and pianist. She studied harpsichord at the New England Conservatory with the renowned Gustav Leonhardt. She too, is widely recognized in this area as a concert artist.

The program is unusual in that it will include three works by little-known but highly influential composers. Georg Philipp Telemann (1681-1767) was one of the best known composers of the Baroque. His fame was such that his candidacy for the music position at Leipzig was preferred to that of the young Johann Sebastian Bach. His Sonata in D for flute and violin will be presented at this concert.

Franz Benda (1709-1786) was the remarkable founder of a special violin school. He gained his fame as a concert master for Frederick the Great, who was a splendid flutist. Benda's work will be represented by his Trio in G for flute, violin and harpsichord.

One of the most celebrated Italian dramatic composers was Domenico Cimarosa (1749-1801). His music is noted for its wit and unfailing good humor, and his ensembles are masterpieces of classic delicacy. On Sunday the trio will play his Concerto in O for flute, violin and piano.

There is no admission charge for the concert, and the public is invited. The Addison Gallery is on Chapel Avenue, across the street from the Andover Inn.

39 YEARS OLD AND HOLDING.

When asked his age, the late, great Jack Benny's reply was as predictable as the morning sun. . . "39 of course". We know that Mr. Benny was kidding and we know that no matter what we do, 40 is right around the corner and then 50 and 60. And we also know that those later years could be tough without a sound retirement plan. At Andover Savings Bank we can help you plan for retirement with a high interest bearing IRA (Individual Retirement Account). If, for example, you're not presently eligible for your company's qualified pension plan, or your company doesn't offer one, then the high yielding, tax-deferred IRA Account is just what you need because it lets you save on personal taxes now and save for your personal retirement at the same time.

Call Andover Savings today at 475-6103 for complete information on personal retirement planning and remember. . . it's not how old you are, it's how old you feel.

P.S. If you're a self-employed individual, and are interested in personal retirement planning, ask about the Andover Savings Bank KEOGH plan.

Academy Campaign Goes Over Goal

Phillips Academy's Bicentennial Campaign has surpassed its goal of $50,610,000, setting a new record in American educational philanthropy for secondary schools.

In a final surge before the deadline of Dec. 31, Andover's supporters put the 201-year-old coeducational boarding school's fund drive over the top by flooding the Academy with over $5½ million in pledges in December alone, including one gift of $1 million and at least 2,000 other pledges ranging from $5 to $210,000.

On New Year's Eve, 450 pledges arrived in the mail; a week into January, pledges are still coming in and Andover will keep on accepting and counting until Jan. 25, when the books will close on the campaign begun on May 8, 1976.

Until that date, firm dollar or donor totals are not available; but campaign chairman Melville Chapin, P.A. '36, a Boston attorney, said that the figure would be at least $51,500,000, pledged by more than 7,000 alumni, alumnae, parents and friends of Phillips Academy and Abbot Academy, the 150-year-old girls' boarding school which merged with Andover in 1973.

Whatever the final total, it will include some $2,462,411 in gifts from 45 foundations and 50 corporations, some of them supporting secondary education for the first time.

Assessing the campaign, Headmaster Theodore R. Sizer said: "We are grateful indeed to that army of loyal men and women who have supported the school — and the ends of academic excellence and democracy for which Andover stands — through this campaign. We hope that this fund-raising success spurs similar efforts among our fellow non-public schools. It is heartening that in these financially dour times many people recognize the essential importance of supporting secondary education. Indeed as the times get more worrisome, the need for strong and demanding schools becomes even greater."

Eighty-one percent of Andover's $50,610,000 fund drive goal has been designated for endowment for students' scholarships and loans, faculty and staff compensation, unrestricted support of the educational program and venture funds for educational innovation.

The Andover Campaign lasted three and a half years, and at its midpoint, June 1978, the school celebrated both the 200th birthday of Phillips and the 150th of Abbot. The drive involved some 2,500 volunteers across the country and abroad. The largest single contribution was a gift of more than $6 million in 1977 from Walter Scott Leeds, who came to Andover as a near-penniless scholarship student in 1904. Leeds was dismissed after only eight months for a misdemeanor, but regarded his Andover experience as the turning point in his life. He regularly supported alumni annual giving and when he died at the age of 93, he left the bulk of his estate to Andover.

"The only security of all is in a free press . . . No government ought to be without censors; and where the press is free no one ever will."

The Leeds gift helped boost Andover's scholarship budget, already the nation's largest among secondary schools, to over $1 million a year. (Approximately one-third of Andover's 1,200 boys and girls receive special financial aid.)

But the fund drive itself still had nearly $13.7 million to go by Sept. 10 of this year, according to Campaign Director Frederic A. Stott, who said: "At the end, it was thousands of big and small gifts that put us over the top. One key was the $5 million challenge fund that 26 alumni, alumnae and parents put together last June, that matched one dollar of every two dollars pledged after that point. The real surge didn't come until November, from the cumulative effects of the stimulus of the challenge fund, the solicitations by 116 regional committees of volunteers, with staff support, the telethons, our publications and special mailings, and of course, the pressure of that New Year's Eve deadline. Just before Christmas we knew we had a good shot at it. But none of us realized we had made it until our Assistant Campaign Director, Sandie Urie Thorpe (Abbot '70), who was keeping an informal tally with a hand calculator all alone on Saturday evening, 48 hours before the deadline, was totalling and saw a $50,666,139.05 readout — we were over but there was no one else there she could tell! Then the next day's mail brought in 450 more pledges, and assured that were well over. Our alumni, alumnae and parents really came through and we're grateful!"

Savrann In Program At Capitol

Russell Savrann of Andover was among a group of seven senior students from Governor Dummer Academy who were selected to attend GDA's first "Washington Week," held in early December. The group, accompanied by faculty member, Michael K. Mulligan, stayed at the Washington home of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Homet, parents of one of the students.

The trip served to give the students an insight into the workings of the United States government not available through textbooks. Highlights of the trip included hearing two cases before the Supreme Court, attending a White House press conference, having interviews with Justice Byron White and White House press secretary Jody Powell, and attending seminars in the House on foreign diplomacy and China.

The students also enjoyed sightseeing and attending a play and symphony at the Kennedy Center.

Southern California Edison is the first utility in the nation to finance completely a wind turbine, Mass. Audubon says. Electricity will be produced for three or four cents a kilowatt hour.

National Teacher Exams Set

The National Teacher Examinations will be given at the University of Lowell on Feb. 16, 1980. The deadline for regular registration is Jan. 23. Registration material may be obtained from Dr. John Catallozzi of the U. Lowell College of Education, or directly from the National Teacher Examinations, Educational Testing Service, Box 911, Princeton, New Jersey, 08541.

Scores from the examinations are used by states for certification of teachers, by school systems for selection and identification of leadership qualities, and by colleges as part of their graduation requirements.

Educational Testing Service, which prepares and administers the tests, says they are designed to measure knowledge gained from professional and general education in a variety of fields.

During the one-day testing session, a registrant may take the Common Examinations, which include tests in professional and general education, plus one of the 26 Area Examinations.

Each registered candidate will receive an admission ticket and notification of the exact location of the testing center. Those taking the Common Examinations should report at 8:30 a.m. and will finish by 12:30 p.m. Area Examinations are scheduled from 1:30 to 4:15 p.m.

Homemaking Courses Offered

Registration for the spring semester Adult Homemaking classes at Essex Agricultural & Technical Institute will be held on Jan. 30 from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. in the Berry Hall cafeteria.

The following classes will run for three hours, one night a week: cake decorating, oriental rug making, decorative painting, candy-making, slipcover construction, beginner's sewing techniques, Japanese bunka embroidery, crafts, lampshade construction, quilting, beginners rug hooking, beginners and advanced stitchery.

All classes begin the week of Feb. 4. There will be a registration fee for all Essex County residents under age 62. These classes are sponsored by the Adult Homemaking Program

Old Ironsides

Most famous of "Old Ironsides" victories in the War of 1812 were the Guerrier, the Java, and the combination of the Cyane and the Levant. Saved from destruction by Oliver Wendell Holmes' poem in 1837, and carefully restored in 1927, she is the oldest commissioned ship in the U.S. Navy.

Security Award

Col. Charles E. Wheeler, Commander DCASR, Boston, presents the Cogswell Award for industrial security to Charles I. Mullaney, Raytheon Company vice-president and manager of the Andover-Lowell Manufacturing Operation.

Raytheon Gets Award

The U.S. Department of Defense has chosen Raytheon Company's Missile Systems Division facility in Andover, to receive the James S. Cogswell Industrial Security Achievement Award for 1979.

Raytheon's Andover plant is one of 21 facilities nationwide to be selected for the honor this year.

Government contractors are selected for this award on the basis of adherence to strict security procedures, as outlined in the Department of Defense Industrial Security Manual. Criteria include the degree of security awareness and management cooperation in plant security, effectiveness of employee security education and motivation programs, security policies and practices, and a facility's ability to maintain a progressive security system.

The award marks the second time since 1974 that the Andover plant has received this honor.

WESTern Roundup

By Tricia Gannon

Everything is back to normal at W.J.H. after the holiday break, as we proceed into the new year.

West Junior High student government officers have been very busy with their Energy Conservation Campaign. Council President Tom Middleton recently met with Superintendent of Schools Dr. Kenneth Seifert to discuss this problem which faces our society. Other students involved in the student government have been lending their time and efforts to plan various energy-saving activities, such as keeping the homeroom thermostats at 65 degrees and turning off the lights to use the sunlight instead. The students are aware of the danger of a severe energy shortage when we are adults if the present rate of energy consumption continues. They feel that we have an obligation to conserve energy and they stress the need for everyone's help.

The second edition of the "West Side Story" is being put together and hopefully will be distributed next week. Ms. Patricia Flaherty, the faculty advisor for the school paper, is pleased with the cooperation shown by the newspaper staff.

On Friday, Jan. 4, the ninth grade boys basketball team played the freshman team of Austin Preparatory. After a close game ending in three minutes of overtime, West beat Austin, 55-51.

Turn Off Burners

If you cook with electricity, get in the habit of turning off the burners several minutes before the allotted cooking time. The heating element will stay hot long enough to finish the cooking for you, without using more electricity. The same principle applies to overcooking.

Writing Series Continues

Sunday, Jan. 13, from 2 to 4:30 p.m. at the Christian Formation Center in Andover, Fr. Lucius Annese, Editor of Charisma Press and author of "The Purpose of Authority?" will give a presentation, the second in a series of six, on how to go about writing a book and submitting the manuscript to a publisher. The demonstration will focus on getting and developing an idea, the title, research, drafts, footnotes, bibliography, index, and other technicalities applicable to non-fiction as well as to fiction, poetry, and "how-to" books. Secondly, what and how to submit to the publisher.

Each participant who reserves a place at this presentation will also receive a free Charisma Press Booklet, "Write and Publish," which summarizes procedures. Sample copies of Fr. Lucius and Annese book, "The Purpose of Authority?" will be available for inspection to serve as a concrete model of how to proceed. Participants may also discuss with Fr. Annese their own plans to write and publish their intended book. During a brief intermission free refreshments will be served.

One may attend the presentation only by reservation and pre-registration in advance by calling The Center or writing to Charisma Press, St. Francis Seminary, P.O. Box 263, Andover, MA 01810.

Assistance To Blind

The Massachusetts Commission for the Blind announced recently that it now has a fully-operational Client Assistance Project which will cover all areas of the state, including Northeastern Massachusetts. This special, Federally-funded program will give blind clients and those applying for services the opportunity to seek help and guidance when they encounter problems with the Commission's delivery of services or policies.

Area C.A.P. worker Paul Mullen explains that the Project will provide advice and, when necessary, direct assistance in a wide variety of problems often encountered by the blind. Providing client with a better understanding of his or her rights, benefits and responsibilities under the law, Mullen stated, is a major concern of the Commission.

In matters where disputes involving the MCB are being considered, C.A.P. assumes the role of an unbiased third party, or ombudsman. In other areas, outside of the Commission, C.A.P. staff can also act on the client's behalf.

Residents in this area can contact the Client Assistance Project at the MCB office in Boston, 110 Tremont Street 02108. The telephone number is 727-5590 1-800-393-6450 extension 5590 which is a toll-free number for residents outside the Boston area.

Children in ancient Rome played hopscotch, blind man's buff and tug-of-war just as children do today.

For Those Of Us Who Are Older

By Janet D. Lake

If you're planning a visit to the mini-clinic in Ballardvale next week, you should know that it will be held on Monday, instead of Tuesday, Jan. 14, because of Martin Luther King's birthday — a holiday. As usual, it will be held from 2 to 4 p.m., and at the Ballardvale United Church, and you must telephone the Board of Health to make an appointment, but make that call this week since Monday, the day of the clinic, will be too late. The number to call is 475-7820.

Because The Haven is a town facility and because Tuesday, Jan. 15, is Martin Luther King's birthday — a state holiday — The Haven will be closed. For those who need transportation, however, Tuesday is not a holiday and rides may be arranged by calling 475-4310 24 hours in advance.

The next meeting of The Haven Associates will be held Thursday, Jan. 17, at 2 p.m. This is a good time to begin your association with The Haven. It is an opportunity to meet those who use the facilities and to make new friends. Eligibility requirements state only that you have to be 60 or older. You'll be most welcome at this monthly get-together and you'll be able to learn about some of the other activities of this senior center.

The next meeting of the Council on Aging will be held Tuesday morning, Jan. 22 at 9:30, postponed from the Tuesday before because of the holiday. Everyone is welcome to attend this board meeting of the organization that, with The Haven Director Dorothy Winn, supervises elder affairs in Andover. The Haven Singers will be performing at the Prescott House in North Andover Wednesday, Jan. 16. This group of senior citizens represents an activity of The Haven and is under the expert direction of Helen Robinson, a well-known professional musician. Interested newcomers are always welcome. The next set of classes scheduled for The Haven will not begin until Feb. 26 and registration is set up to take place Feb. 19.

Income tax time is fast upon us and if you need some counsel in preparation of your tax returns, a professional Income Tax Consultant will be on hand at The Haven Mondays commencing Feb. 4. He will see people only by appointment, so be sure to telephone The Haven well in advance to set your time

To Define Duties Of Boards

Work has begun on a proposal to streamline the functions of three committees now involved in regulation of downtown building projects, Town Manager Jared S. A. Clark said this week.

Clark said he wanted the functions of the design advisory group and the central business district committee sorted out and their jurisdictions defined. Both are advisory groups to the planning board.

The design advisory group is a five-member committee which, according to town bylaw, is appointed by the manager, with selectmen's approval, to review the architecture of buildings or renovations proposed for areas zoned general business.

The central business district committee is a citizen's committee which was formed at the request of former Planning Board Chairman Margaret Keck to advise the board on downtown planning.

Clark said the functions of the two committees could overlap and create unnecessary confusion for prospective downtown builders.

There has been no such confusion yet, he said, but he wants to "resolve any potential problems before they occur."

The central business district committee is composed of members of the Center Merchants, the Chamber of Commerce and the development commission, Clark said, and is not appointed by the town manager or confirmed by selectmen.

Since they do affect town policy through their advice, Clark said he felt the town should have say in their appointment.

Any "ongoing committee" which uses town funds and staff time should be appointed by the manager with approval by selectmen, Clark said.

Clark added that he approved of citizens' committees, but wanted to insure they "act like an organization."

"I want to create a consolidation of responsibilities so issues between developers and the town can remain substantive but not procedural. We're trying not to create a cumbersome review process," the manager said.

Clark sent his thoughts on the matter in a letter to the planning board with no specific recommendations or deadline.

Review

Choral Group Greatly Improved

By Hart Leavitt

In its 10th Anniversary concert at the South Church in Andover the North Parrish Choral Society not only gave the best concert in its history but dramatized its great improvement under the direction of Marie Stultz.

The performance also proved again what a joyful and well-trained addition comes from the North Parrish Choral Society of children, organized by Mrs. Stultz.

Both groups now combine to make one of the best singing societies in this area. This judgement is confirmed by the large and friendly audience that came out.

The Christmas carols made up a happily traditional part of the program, especially those arranged by the director: "Lo, How a Rose," "Sing Noel," and "King Jesus is Born." Particularly interesting because of the different harmonies and rhythms were the William Walton carols, "All This Time," "Make We Joy," and "What Cheer, Good Cheer." Marie Stultz also contributed an original composition based on a passage from 'Hamlet' about the spirit of Christmas. It added unusual variety to the program.

In general throughout the program, both choruses sang with excitement and joy, and responded warmly and precisely to Mrs. Stultz's direction. Intonation and balance were satisfactory.

Though at times words were not clear, the diction usually was clean and strong. This was particularly true of the Treble Chorus. And both continue to demonstrate a quality that always characterizes good choral work: Exact entrances. Mrs. Stultz's brisk gestures also punctuated the sharp cut-offs.

The only part of the evening that did not measure up to the high standards so far described was the orchestral section devoted to parts of the "Messiah." It sounded as if they did not have enough rehearsals, and the music itself was not in keeping with the mood of the chorus.

The chorus was assisted by Richard Stultz, organist; Karen Kohl, harpsichordist; and Leigh Michie, accompanist.

Hart Leavitt is currently an English Teacher at Phillips Academy. He is co-author of the series of books, "Stop Look and Write." The books are a unique series of art, using various art forms as aides to writing.

Mr. Leavitt studied clarinet under Rosario Mazzeo of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. Currently he is Director of the Righteous Jazz Band which performs in the Boston area.

Film Fest

In conjunction with the current major exhibition entitled "Life and Times in the Shoe City: The Shoe Workers of Lynn," the Essex Institute, 132 Essex St., in Salem presents the fourth in its Winter Film Festival. "Mission Hill and the Miracle of Boston" will be screened at the Institute on Thursday, Jan. 17 at 11 a.m. and on Saturday, Jan. 19 at 2 p.m. The feature is a one-hour presentation.

"Mission Hill and the Miracle of Boston" is an oral history of neighborhood growth and decline. Mission Hill was an Irish parish of Boston that had undergone dramatic changes. This film relates the stories of the Irish parishioners, the blacks who have moved into the area, and the policy makers who are making Mission Hill part of the "New Boston."

Admission is free.

AAUW Group Meets In North Andover

"Anorexia Nervosa" will be the topic for discussion at the January meeting of the Andover-Georgetown Branch of the American Association of University Women to be held at the Atkinson School, North Andover, Thursday, Jan. 17 at 7:30 p.m.

Speaker for the evening will be Mrs. Patricia Warner of Lincoln, president of the Anorexia Nervosa Aid Society of Massachusetts. She describes Anorexia Nervosa as compulsive self-starvation, a life threatening disorder with physical and emotional components. Usually the person suffering from this disorder is an adolescent girl, who begins by dieting, but then becomes compulsive, losing up to 20 percent of her body weight. Without help such girls can actually starve to death. The Mass. Anorexia Nervosa Aid Society assists the adolescent and her family in understanding the problem.

A.A.U.W. meetings are open to the public and anyone wishing further information may call Pat Himber or Sue Buehler, both of Andover.

The Andover Georgetown Branch is also co-sponsoring with Northern Essex Community College, a Symposium for companies in the area on the subject of alternative work scheduling. This will be held on Feb. 15 from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. There will be two panel discussions, one led by companies who have utilized part-time and flex-time employment, and the other led by employees who work on a flexible schedule. For information, contact Esther Feier or Barbara Bhiladvala, both of Andover.

The Ladies of Merrimack College will begin 1980 with a morning coffee and lecture in the Phillips Room at the Andover Inn on Thursday, Jan. 17 at 9:30.

The Ladies are looking forward to welcoming The Very Rev. Edward J. McCarthy, O.S.A. as speaker.

Father McCarthy will address the women on Latin American Affairs.

A graduate of Villanova University he was awarded an M.A. in History and the Ph.D in Philosophy from Catholic University in Washington, D. C.

The former president of the Universidad de Villaneuva in Cuba, Father McCarthy was among 13 Augustinian priests who were jailed by the Castro government before being expelled from Cuba in 1961.

Later he was appointed the founder and first President of Biscayne College in Miami, Fla.

Father McCarthy was appointed Prior of the Augustinian Community as well as a member of the faculty at Merrimack College in 1968. He was elected chairman of the History Department in 1970 and was moderator of the Men of Merrimack.

In 1971 he was elected to become the 26th President of Villanova University in Pennsylvania. He served four years in this capacity.

Board Decision Gets Pros And Cons

The school committee was criticized by some parents Thursday for not heeding their advice, and was praised by others for their fair and careful consideration of parental input.

After the school committee voted to adopt the 6-3-3 grade organization for the school building program, they were criticized for not heeding the advice of the 250 members of the public present who seemed to favor the more expensive 5-3-4 option.

"How much impact do townspeople have on your decisions?" asked Drew Webb, 2 Algonquin Ave. "As I sat here tonight and listened to the vote, I got the impression that the vote had been determined before you walked in here."

"Do you really listen to the townspeople, or do you make a decision and then allow the townspeople to gripe about it?" Webb asked.

"Some of us on the committee felt it would be inappropriate to vote without a hearing," School Committee Chairman Elaine Viehmann answered. "As we sit here tonight, there are things that we know about the building program which we take for granted that you don't know about."

"Yes, I'm sure that our decision on the 6-3-3 was made before we walked in here tonight," she added. She said that the committee would not be doing its job properly if it did not have a decision ready after their months of discussing the matter.

The hearing was held, Viehmann said, to allow the public to present arguments for and against the two programs being considered, to insure that there were not any factors which the committee had overlooked in its deliberations.

"I can't help but resent that you sit out there and say we make decisions and just tell you to be calm," Viehmann said to Webb. "We've had a bit more experience than you, and I'm sorry if I sound a bit patronizing about it."

Webb said accepting the 6-3-3 as "a political necessity" in order to get the building project funded by town meeting ignored "what is best for the kids."

"Mr. Webb," Viehmann asked, "do you give you're kids absolutely everything that is good for them?"

"No," Webb answered, "but it is certainly my intention to."

"Then so is mine," Viehmann said. "If I'm running scared it's because I've been at 23 town meetings, and it's not logic or reason that prevails."

Supt. Kenneth R. Seifert supported the committee saying, "Communication with the school committee is effective, but it's amazing how few people come to school committee meetings."

He said the grade organization had been discussed "for hours at a time." "Where were these people then?" he asked. "How do you interpret silence? We began to say, 'Is there an interest?' Maybe we need a sky-writer."

Viehmann said that outside of public meetings she had received comments on the grade organization through four personal contacts and two notes.

On the matter of selection of site for the proposed new junior high school to be made from an elementary school, the committee received praise from the South School PTO through Maureen Wrobel, 8 Eastman Road.

She said the objections the South PTO presented about use of the that for conversion to a junior high were being considered fairly by the committee.

"The school committee has been highly receptive," she said, "and we feel we will receive an objective decision on that site and we will accept it as such."

Rocco Bruno, 7 Enfield Drive, raised further objections to selection of the south site.

He said more students at a junior high would bicycle to school than at the elementary school, creating a hazard to the children as they travel the narrow and winding roads around South.

He added that the pine woods behind the school would be in danger from junior high school smokers. "Sooner or later that pine forest is going to burn," Bruno said.

He said that junior high school girls walking home late from school would be in danger of assault. There was a young woman raped in the area last fall.

"I don't see how you can put a junior high school in there," Bruno said. "All the money you save can't bring back those woods, take away an injury, or the pain and humility of a raped child."

Bruno said that before he moved here a year ago, he had worked for a court injunction to force his school district in Illinois to provide more bus service.

Asked if he would seek such an injunction here, he said, "I don't think I'd be that rough. They haven't made the wrong decision yet."

One mother protested moving the junior high school from the East site to either Sanborn, or South because of the inconvenience it would cause parents.

"East Junior High was built where it was because it was near the center of the town," she said. "If you expect parents to pick kids up to take them to town and back, you're asking an awful lot of parents."

Several parents asked specific questions about redistricting when one elementary school is closed before September, but the school committee did not have the information. Plans for the redistricting will not be made until the school to be closed is chosen.

Generally, though, the committee said the redistricting would affect all elementary schools, with some students from each school having to change schools.

Junior High Plan Firmed

Chairman Harris' Letter Wins Royal Treatment

By Tim Greene

A British couple was granted an audience with their Lord Mayor when they carried the greetings of Andover officials back with them after a visit here last August.

A letter of welcome from Selectman Chairman Edward M. Harris was hand delivered by an Andover policeman to Bill and Rosa Newcombe as they were enjoying an Aug. 15, 1979 farewell party at the home of their only daughter, Maureen, 18 Wild Rose Drive.

The officer asked to present the letter into the hands of the Newcombes, but they would not come to the door. They thought it was a joke. So the letter was delivered to one of the Newcombe's two granddaughters, Susan 10, and Helen, 6.

The Newcombes finally opened the letter and found it to be an authentic greeting from the chairman of the board of selectmen who asked, "Will you please be so kind as to carry the greetings of Andover back with you to the authorities of Nottingham?"

The Newcombes were so kind and were invited by the Lord Mayor of Nottingham to visit him in his chambers at the Nottingham Council House, the seat of the city's government.

"To be invited to the Lord Mayor's Council House is quite something," Newcombe said this week to his wife as he recounted the tale, "I sat in the Lord Mayor's chair and you sat in the sheriff's." The couple were back in Andover to visit their daughter and her family for Christmas.

The sheriff of Nottingham, Newcombe explained, is no longer the evil villain he was portrayed as in the Robin Hood legends. "It's quite an honor now," he said. Questions about the sheriff are frequently asked by Americans, he added.

The Lord Mayor met with the Newcombes in his office, where he was dressed in his official regalia. The mayor's garb included a tri-cornered black hat, a black velvet cape with an ermine collar, and a heavy gold chain of office, worn around the neck.

The couple sat and chatted with the Lord Mayor for about an hour and a half, and were served coffee and biscuits.

Mrs. Newcombe was favorably impressed by the mayor, his trappings and the council hall. "All the best people go there," Mrs. Newcombe said, "Princess Margaret, Prince Phillip." These members of the royal family visited the Lord Mayor of Nottingham at his chambers shortly after the Newcombe's visit there.

The salary of the elected officials of a city or town in England is a bit different than here, Newcombe said. There when a person is elected to office for a year, they are given a paid leave from their place of employment.

Newcombe worked for 49 years at a company in Nottingham called Boots, which made chemicals, pharmaceuticals and surgical goods.

He and his wife have made nine trips

Messengers Of Good Will

Bill and Rosa Newcombe, shown here in their daughter's home, brought the official greetings of Andover to the officials of their home city of Nottingham, England, and received an official welcome from their Lord Mayor. The Newcombe's, on their ninth visit to the United States, return to England tomorrow.

here to visit since 1967 when their daughter, son-in-law Leslie and grandchildren moved here.

Their daughter Maureen said she and her family moved back to England in 1972, but after eleven months they came back to America. "Our roots were back in the states," Maureen said.

On one of their earlier visits here, the Newcombes visited Nottingham, N.H., the namesake of their home town. It was smaller, they said, than Nottingham, England which has a work force of 200,000. They estimated the population of Nottingham, N.H., at several hundred.

However, a fellow countryman was the proprietor of the only store in the town. He was a man who emigrated from Nottingham, England to Nottingham, N.H., 50 years before, and became the town's postmaster.

On other trips here they visited relatives they had never seen before who live in Connecticut, New York and Florida.

When the Newcombes return to England tomorrow, they will take up the life they have gotten used to since Mr. Newcombe's retirement last May.

"I'd say you've been retired for 20 years," Mrs. Newcombe said to her husband.

"Yes, I wash dishes, clean windows and make beds," Mr. Newcombe answered. "I had an easier time at work."

Against the advice of the school administration, the school committee voted Thursday to retain the current grade organization for planning the school building program, citing economy and political expedience as their reasons.

The four to one vote rejected proposed plans for five-year elementary schools, three-year middle schools and a four-year high school (5-3-4) at a cost estimated between $9.1 million and $10.3 million.

The proposal accepted calls for six-year elementary schools, three-year junior high schools and a three year high school (6-3-3) at a cost between $7.4 million and $8.3 million.

A bonding question on the project will not be ready for spring town meeting, Town Manager Jared S. A. Clark told the meeting Thursday. Drawings and specifications must be made by architects Perly F. Gilbert and bids must be submitted before the bonding issue can be presented.

Clark targeted the bonding question for fall town meeting.

Committeemen said they chose the 6-3-3 plan because it works, it is cheaper, and it stands a better chance of being approved by town meeting than the 5-3-4 does.

Committeeman Joseph Finn, who moved acceptance of the 6-3-3 plan, called it "very, very successful. It works," said Finn, "You've seen the test results."

The 6-3-3 plan's price tag, about $2 million cheaper than that of the 5-4-3, also weighed in his decision Finn told the 250 members of the public at the meeting. "Even if everyone here in the room tonight stood up and said, 'I want the 5-3-4, I'm willing to spend the $2 million,' I still wouldn't feel comfortable taking it to town meeting," he said.

As School Sup't. Kenneth R. Seifert said, "In the town of Andover, when it comes to $2 million and you can't quantify it, it's a pretty tough sell."

What Seifert said he could not quantify were the advantages of the 5-3-4. He said

To Be Candidate For School Board

Richard E. Neal

Richard E. Neal has announced plans to run for election to the Andover School Committee in the upcoming March election.

A 25-year resident of Andover, Neal is a graduate of Brown University where he majored in mathematics and also holds a masters degree in education from the State College at Salem.

Prior to becoming the principal of the North Middle School in Westford where he has served for the past seven years, Neal spent 14 years in the Andover School System as teacher, guidance counselor, assistant principal, and acting principal in the junior high schools. In addition Neal has been involved for over 20 years in youth activities in Andover including Little League, Church Basketball, Junior League, and the Andover Hockey Association.

Neal resides at 1 Twin Brook Circle with his wife, Barbara, and their two children, Stephen five, a Kindergarten student at Doherty School, and Jennifer, four.

Going Skiing . . .

But No Snow In Sight

As part of the Department of Community Services winter ski program, students from the elementary schools in town were bused to Bradford Ski Area Tuesday, even though there was no evidence here of the white stuff. But the kids seemed confident that when they got to the slopes, there would be enough man-made snow to allow them to make a few afternoon runs.

On these pages are some of the students from the Sanborn School who made the trip. Clockwise from left: Bonnie Bilger, 10, struggles to get into her ski pants; Stephanie Kuo, 8, tests out her goggles and mittens before leaving for the ski area; Danyelle Yameen, 11, places some extra clothing in her bag; Chris Landers, 8, Craig Knight, 8, and John Pike, 9, get ready for action; and Robin McHendry, 11, lugs her equipment toward the bus for departure.

On The Brighter Side

In a chaotic world and in a nation facing ominous economic times as well as perious decisions in dealing with other countries, it is refreshing to find some bright spots in our own back yard.

We refer, of course, to the decision by Wang Laboratories to locate a new plant in Andover and the rapid manner in which local officials have initiated the procedural welcome mat.

Also, the expansion of a downtown business by R. Milton Cole bodes well for Andover and the central business district.

The continued interest in Andover by industrial tenants is most welcome. In some ways, the announcement by Wang Labs this week of their intent to locate here, off River Road, is almost like starting off the new year where the old one left off.

In recent years, Andover has become an important address to many major industries, as is well known. The foresight and planning by the town in reserving areas in Lowell Junction and West Andover for industry and then supplying the necessary utilities to the area has paid off handsomely.

Too, an active and supportive industrial development commission, and its ally, the Industrial Development Finance Agency, has paved a smooth path for those interested in locating here.

No doubt it was such considerations which led Wang to decide to locate a new facility here and take advantage of what the town has to offer.

While it will be a few years, before the overall operation is underway, the prospectus is good not only for Andover but for the entire area, with its offering of new jobs a boost to the economy and the new construction contributing to Andover's tax base.

There is still industrial land available for development in the West Andover area, and there is every reason to be optimistic about its future.

The announcement this week by Wang, coupled with all the other industrial development of recent years, is a tribute to the planning and patience of the town, along with the ability of the IDC under Chairman Lawrence Spiegel to shepherd prospective industrial clients through the maze of official red tape which sometimes accompanies such ventures.

The downtown expansion of Cole hardware which got underway this week simply buoys a belief we've had about this particular merchant for a long time.

R. Milton Cole is the epitome of an optimistic merchant. In a profession which characteristically breeds pessimism, Milt has always looked on the bright side.

Even in difficult business periods, we can't ever recall Milt saying times were tough.

And, his decision to expand his building simply reinforces the optimism he has not only for his own business, but for the central business district as well.

Belief in the soundness of Andover's central business district is amply displayed by Milt, who has expanded his operations several times in the past and after 30 years on Main street, sees the need to expand once again.

That's the kind of business sense that boosts our downtown area.

The Public Forum

Tax Cap

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

Would like to give a few comments in reference to the Tax Cap instigated by Governor Edward King — as it relates to the Town of Andover. During the 1970's we have been big spenders on all levels of government, Federal — State — Cities and Towns.

It is claimed we have too many social programs and also overlapping programs — that is costing taxpayers plenty. Andover needs to wear their Tax Cap and do their homework in regards to the Town's business in all Departments in a meaningful business way. I am confident they will do so in the best interest of our great Town and the State of Massachusetts in 1980 and years to come.

In closing — I wish to commend the Andover Townsman for their Public Forum column. It gives private citizens like myself a chance to voice an opinion or suggestion which is healthy for our Town of Andover. My wish for 1980's is — more people will take advantage of it.

A Decade?

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

Before and since New Years Day I have heard it said again and again that we were ending a decade and starting a new one. The statements are very much in error.

Let us now examine the question. A first decade is from 1 to 10; a second decade is from 11 to 20; a third decade is from 21 to 30. Carrying this along we find that an eighth decade is from 71 to 80. This year, 1980, is the last year of the present decade, and next year, 1981, will be the first year of the new decade.

However, I admit that we are now starting the first year of the 1980's.

Animal Cures

Scientists are studying the curative powers of certain animal products: the armadillo for leprosy, albatross for heart disease, black bear for kidney failure, and the manatee (sea cow) for hemophilia, Mass. Audubon points out.

Aluminum is the most abundant metal in the earth's crust — about eight percent by weight.

JACK ANDERSON and JOE SPEAR

WEEKLY SPECIAL

Mobuto Should Join List Of Ousted Tyrants Soon

By JACK ANDERSON and JOE SPEAR

WASHINGTON -- It was a tough year for tyrants in 1979. The imperious shah of Iran was forced into exile. Nicaraguan strongman Anastasio Somoza was driven from power. Emperor Bokassa was toppled from his throne in the Central African Empire. Idi Amin, the bullyboy ruler of Uganda, also had to skedaddle to safety outside his country.

We predict the next kingpin to go down in the coming year will be Mobuto Seko who rules over the mineral-rich African nation of Zaire. Mobuto's personal greediness and his oppressive police state tactics have engendered increasing hatred by his people that may lead to his overthrow.

Unfortunately for the United States, the pattern of the shah that produced ignominy and virulent enmity in Tehran is being repeated in Zaire. The Carter administration is painting itself into a corner by supporting the vainglorious, unpopular chief of state.

Inside sources tell us that the dragon seeds of rebellion are being sown in Zaire. Mobuto is amassing a personal fortune running into the millions at the expense of the populace. Dissenters to his iron-fisted regime are being imprisoned and executed.

Yet, we've learned, the CIA and our policy makers are committing the same egregious errors in Zaire that occurred in Iran. Mobu-to has cozened our intelligence agents into believing his boasts of popular support and the United States is buttressing his government with financial aid programs.

Horror stories of his suppression are almost never mentioned in the diplomatic cables back to Washington. Our people in Zaire are winned and dined by Mobuto in palatial luxury and neglect to report that unrest is afoot.

A former State Department official assigned there told us: "Mobuto is a SOB, but, as always, the powers-that-be say that he's our SOB. When he's overthrown or assassinated, the people of Zaire will blame the United States for supporting him."

The revolutionary opposition to Mobuto was underscored recently when his brother, the ambassador to Sweden, died under mysterious circumstances in Stockholm. Swedish police suspect he was poisoned by Zairean dissident elements. The dead diplomat had asked Swedish authorities before his demise for additional protection because of threats on his life.

GRIM OUTLOOK: President Carter is sitting on a grim report on what our world may be like in the 21st century. His advisors have squelched it because the gloomy forecast might make unpalatable election-year reading.

We've had access to the White House report titled "Global 2000" and can disclose some of the problems the world faces 20 years from now.

The experts retained by the White House predict that at the beginning of the next century, the entire world may be polluted and overrun by a teeming, starving population. Two billion more people will need food and there will be serious shortages of food and water, comparable to the energy crisis that is upon us.

The report anticipates that the forests of every continent will be defoliated by desperate people foraging for food. Fishing rights wars will erupt as nations turn to the seas for essential food supplies for their hungry people.

Only if the world's leaders work together, the report says, can the Apocalypse of the future be prevented.

OIL BONANZA: The OPEC nations are cracking the whip on the world's economy through their extortionate control of prices for oil on the international market. In the decade to come, four of the states of the union could be in the same domineering position in this country because of their petroleum wealth.

A secret Treasury Department report says that Alaska, Texas, California and Louisiana will reap astonishing revenues once oil prices are decontrolled while the other 46 states will be reduced to beggary.

As petroleum prices increase between now and 1990, the report says, the four oil states will haul down 83 percent of the gigantic profits derived from uncontrolled profiteering. They'll be able to attract industries and people to their domain by inducements such as low taxes and public benefits.

The Treasury experts estimate that Alaska will harvest a budget surplus of about $37 billion over the next 10 years. Texas will haul in an estimated $33 billion; California, $22 billion and Louisiana nearly $14 billion.

The bottom line indicates that the governors of the Big Four will be the oil sheiks of America, and their senators and house members of Congress the sultans of clout in Washington.

WATCH ON WASTE: There is no more spine-tingling sight for an American than to see Old Glory ceremoniously raised and lowered. But we detest seeing the proud ritual diminished by busy little bureaucrats spending public money for gimmickry.

The authorities at the Public Service Health hospital at Nassau Bay, Texas, recently renovated their facility. They justifiably bought new beds and gave the hospital a badly needed paint job. However, they also spent $2,560 for an automatic flag raiser on grounds it would save manpower and time. The flag raising requires at most two or three minutes a day.

Lowell, Haverhill On Grid Schedule

The addition of new members in the Merrimack Valley Conference will result in a new and challenging football schedule for Andover's Golden Warriors next season.

Added to the schedule will be Lowell and Haverhill, while Tewksbury and Dracut will be dropped.

Andover High Athletic Director Dick Swift said this week the new schedule was drawn up recently and will probably result in some changes in the annual Thanksgiving Day game in a couple of years.

New teams added to the conference this year include Lowell, Haverhill, Greater Lawrence and Greater Lowell Regional Vocational schools. The conference is now divided into two seven-school divisions.

Andover's Thanksgiving morning rival will remain Central Catholic of Lawrence for at least the next two years. Contrac-tural arrangements among the conference schools will more or less keep such traditional rivalries as Lawrence-Lowell, Andover-CCHs on the books for at least another two years.

After that, there could be changes resulting in Andover meeting either Methuen or Haverhill on the Thanksgiving day season windup.

For Andover it will be the second change in the Turkey Day rivalry in the past decade. For many years the traditional rival was North Andover until both teams joined new conference alignments.

Greater Lawrence Regional will wind up its season next year facing Greater Lowell Regional in what would appear to be a natural rivalry.

The Lawrence-Lowell rivalry is also expected to continue as the season finale for both teams under the new league setup.

The new conference alignment could produce a night game for the Golden Warriors. The Andover-Lowell game may be scheduled for a Friday night when the upriver city hosts the local team in 1981.

Children's Museum

1980 is the Year of the Monkey, and the Boston Children's Museum celebrates with a Japanese New Year's party on Saturday, Jan. 12 from 10-5.

To prepare for O-Shogatsu (the New Year) the museum's Japanese house will be ritually cleaned of the old year's dust and the brooms will be bound with red and white string so that the Gods of Good Luck are not inadvertently swept out of the house.

Traditional symbols of long life, prosperity and vigor, such as pine boughs, bamboo stalks, lobsters, ferns and plum blossoms, will be used as decorations.

The museum is at Museum Wharf, 300 Congress St., on Boston's waterfront. For travel directions, call the What's Up Line at 426-8855.

The Panama Canal was built in 1920.

Fitness Program

Healthy hearts and bodies for children is the major goal of "Feelin' Good," a youth fitness program which will begin shortly at the Andover-North Andover YMCA. Class sessions, which are scheduled twice weekly for ten weeks, center around games, sports activities and other types of exercise designed by experts to promote cardio-vascular endurance, muscle strength, flexibility and weight control. These exercise sessions are supplemented by brief lectures on nutrition, diet, weight control, high blood pressure and other current health concerns. The emphasis throughout the entire program is to have fun and encourage good health practices.

"Feelin' Good" is offered in two classes for children in grades 1-3 and 4-6. Registration for this program, which has been recognized as the national YMCA Cardio-vascular Health program for youth, is open now. Additional information is available by contacting the Andover-North Andover YMCA, 165 Haverhill St., Andover.

Pee Wee "B"

Andover 3, Billerica 3

Andover's Pee Wee B's played one of their more exciting games of the season on Saturday morning at the Wilmington Arena against a very strong Billerica team. Andover came back from a 3-0 first period deficit behind the strong goaltending of James Marocco to earn a tie. Andover's first unit, with Billy Bruno, Timmy Donovan and Ronnie Forbes up front and Matt Shine and John Gangi on defense controlled play in the early going but did not score. Andover then fell asleep for less than a two minute period which saw Billerica score three goals. Andover answered this flurry with a Timmy Donovan goal on a deflection off a hard shot from the point by Shannon McCabe with two minutes left in the period. The second period was evenly played. The unit of forwards Paul Fuchs, Jeff McNeil and Mark Paskowsky backed by Brian Gibson and Sandy MacNeish had several scoring chances in the period but were turned away. The third period opened with Andover down 3-1 and pressing. Tommy Herling, Larry Prestia and Chris Madden kept the pressure on Billerica and Shanno

McCabe finally scored on a nice solo rush with less than four minutes left. Then came the key play. Matt Shine broke up a Billerica rush and fed Ronnie Forbes. Forbes passed to Timmy Donovan who put one under the Billerica goalie to tie it up at 3 with 55 seconds left. The hard earned tie was almost as good as a win for the B's who were missing some key players but still played very well.

Beverly 5, Andover 2

The B's were nearly at full strength on Saturday evening at the Danvers Twin Rinks but were beaten by Beverly 5-2. The loss prevented the B's from taking sole possession of the third place in the Danvers League. Andover started slowly once again, falling behind by three goals before Mark Paskowsky scored off a Tommy Herling pass after Larry Prestia had kept the puck in the zone. David Young,

Peter McNab

McNab In Hockey Benefit

Peter McNab is best known as a star center of the Boston Bruins. But he is also an amiable Andover resident, a man who spent his youth in sunny California and a student who continues to pursue a degree in sports management at Boston University.

In keeping with his active interest in Andover youth and sports he has volunteered, along with his wife Diana, a Phillips Academy ski coach, to host "An Evening with the McNabs" as a benefit for the Andover Hockey Association, Tuesday, Jan. 22, 8 p.m. at the Andover Country Club.

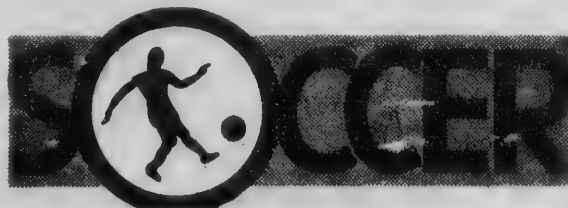

Young and old town residents are invited to come and participate in this informal, conversational gathering. McNab will speak briefly about life in the glare of publicity that inevitably falls on the professional athlete.

The centerpiece of the evening, however, will be a dialogue, with Peter responding to questions from the audience dealing with the spectrum of concerns about sports and recreation.

One who learned much of his skating in improbable San Diego, McNab defies many of the stereotypes ascribed to professional hockey players. He is completing the collegiate work he began at the University of Denver in 1970, before joining the Buffalo Sabres in 1973. He and his wife both have a strong affinity for the issues confronting all sports enthusiasts, and Peter is particularly adept in dealing with young people.

The McNabs have lived in Andover since 1976, when Peter joined the Bruins. Tickets for the evening are available at the Andover Hockey Shop, the Sports Shop or from Maureen Fredrickson, 16 Arundel St.

Timmy Donovan and Billy Bruno had applied some offensive pressure earlier in the period but Beverly's goaltender held them off. Beverly had a power play early in the second period when Matt Shine took a penalty while halting a breakaway but they failed to score as Kenny Young made some good saves and defensemen Brian Gibson, John Gangi and Ronnie Forbes broke up Beverly rushes. The period ended with Beverly on top 4-1. Early in the third period Paul Fuchs scored a pretty tip in goal off a Mark Paskowsky pass from the corner to make it 4-2. Goaltender David Barry then stopped the next several Beverly shots and Sandy MacNeish, Jeff McNeil, Shannon McCabe and Chris Madden each had good scoring bids but their efforts were to no avail as Beverly scored again with three minutes left to insure the victory. The going got a little rough as the game wound down but players maintained discipline and their class showed through.

Squirt A Team

Andover 4
Brunswick, Me. 3

Andover 6
Brunswick, Me. 5

Andover played host to a fine Brunswick team for the first two games of a home-and-home-guest series, and won both in close hard played contests.

In the first game Brunswick dominated in the first period, and with Andover on a power play in the first few minutes, Chris Myrick scored a shorthanded, unassisted goal. He tallied another score three minutes later on an assist from J. J. Comeau. In the second period, Andover gained the momentum when Bob Stoltz redirected a Mark Neaves pass in for the first score.

In less than thirty more seconds, Neaves drove in a rebound of Mark Berberian's scoring bid, to tie up the game. Steve Donovan, Berberian, Jamie O'Brien, Kyle McCabe, Chris Sapuppo and Neaves worked will in power play combinations late in the second period, but were denied by a strong Brunswick defensive unit. In the third period of steady wide open skating, both teams had several chances to take the win, but sharp goaltending by Dale Drehobl for Brunswick, and Chris Hansberry for Andover kept the score close. Myrick put Brunswick in front when he completed the hat trick, taking a pass from Jake Kemm, and moving around two defenders with outstanding moves and stick handling to set up a clear wrist shot. But a couple of minutes later, after an impressive display of forechecking by center Steve Donovan and linemates Chris Sapuppo and Matt Alden, Steve picked up a bouncing puck and drove in a fifteen footer past a sprawling goaltender.

The game looked like a tie, with solid defensive effort by Chris Ladner and Peter Domingos for Brunswick, and by Peter Trede and Matt Young for Andover, along with outstanding goaltending by Jim Berberian, who shared duties with Hansberry. But with only 31 seconds left, Donovan knocked a loose puck out of a pile of players in the left circle to Chris Sapuppo, about ten feet in front, and Chris drove in the winning goal. In both games, Brent Raftery and Mike Nelligan did heavy work along the boards, often keeping the puck deep in the offensive zone and setting up chances from behind the net.

In the second game, both teams continued their wide open style, and again Brunswick opened the scoring when Matt LeBlanc made several good shifts to get a clear shot and drive home a strong high wrist shot. Then Andover got the better of a well balanced game to lead by a 5-1 score by the end of two periods. Mark Neaves finished off a rush from his own blue line to score unassisted. Then he assisted a Jamie O'Brien goal with a fine centering pass on a power play. Matt Alden followed with a score, assisted by Sapuppo, and Dana Alden followed with a score, assisted by Sapuppo and Dana Forbes. Kyle McCabe tipped in a well placed pass from Pat Breen, who played a very strong game on wing, with an assist to Peter Trede who began the play from his defensive position. Breen then picked up another assist, setting up Steve Donovan for a good shot. With the game looking out of reach, Brunswick came roaring back. Joey Marro scored, assisted by Kent Burnham. Along with their linemate, Matt LeBlanc and defensemen Chris Ladner and Walt Higgins, they kept Andover bottled up in their own end. Burnham scored Brunswick's third goal with an assist to Marro.

Matt Alden then re-established Andover's margin with his second goal of the night, taking Donovan's deflected pass in his skates and driving it past the goalie. Chris Myrick then scored for Brunswick on an exciting individual effort, rushing almost rink long. With less than a minute left, and each team having a man in the penalty box, Brunswick pulled their goalie, and with the added strength of an extra skater, put on good pressure, and Donny Favreau closed the gap to one, with an unassisted goal on a breakaway. Then Andover kept the puck in the Brunswick end for most of the closing seconds, and only alert defense kept them from scoring on the empty net. In both winning efforts, Tom Tormey provided Andover with solid offensive effort on wing. And outstanding two way hockey by Peter Duball, Sean Gorcone, Mike Waltz, Jeff Burns, and Bill Allen, added to a strong Brunswick team effort.

In a few weeks Brunswick will host Andover for the second half of this series at the Bowdoin College rink.

In the second period the two teams swapped goals. Dan Iandoli brought M & M within one goal early in the period. Mark Dorsey added an insurance goal for New Indian Ridge poking home Hughie Maginnis' rebound. Warrior Girls Win

By Patsy Doran

Andover's Indoor girl's track team had its first victory of the season against Chelmsford last Saturday by a score of 69-22.

Andover had 9 out of a possible 11, first place finishes. Five of those first place finishers had a teammate come in second, and two of them had a third place finisher with the first placer.

The girls looked strong and overpowered Chelmsford in almost every area.

Marci Spiegel had two first place finishes in the shot put and the 50 yd. dash. Marsha Cummings had a first in the 300, and was also a part of the one-lap relay.

Individually everyone did well, had good times and distances, and as a team they rallied together and showed what they could do. Andover is now 1-2, their next meet is on Saturday against Medford, at Methuen.

Lowell 45, Andover 46

The Andover girl's Indoor Track Team ran an excellent meet against Lowell, but lost by one point, 45-46.

The meet came right down to the last event, the mile relay. The Lowell girls managed to come in first, beating Andover by only 2 seconds. Andover ran a 4.28, which is a very good time for the girls. Other people who did well were Ellen Williams in the 2-mile with a 13.48, who placed first; Marci Spiegel, who had 2 second places, in the 50 yd. dash, and the shot put, and Sue Bright in the mile, who placed first for Andover with a 5.51 clocking.

Also, Cynthia Surret has been showing her strength in different events, and is proving to be an asset to the team. She had 2 third places, in the high jump and the 300 yd. and also ran in the winning one lap relay.

Participate In Ski Challenge

More than 70 skiers from Massachusetts participated in the fourth annual Bretton Woods/Easter Seal 24 Hour Ski Challenges at Bretton Woods, N. H. More than $6,000 was pledged by the skiers to benefit the Massachusetts Easter Seal Society.

The events began at 11 a.m. on Dec. 15 and continued from the next 24 hours. All skiers had solicited pledges based on each hour of completed skiing.

The event attracted four local residents. Shelley Poulsen, Kathleen Powers, Alane Sullivan, and Johnna Treska, all of Andover, participated in the 24-hour marathon.

For those who may have missed the 24 Hour Ski Challenge, there will be a seven hour Ski-A-Thon on Jan. 19, at Mount Watatic in Ashby. All money raised benefits the Easter Seal Society, which provides recreational, camping, and therapeutic programs and services for handicapped children and adults in Massachusetts.

Boat Show

This year's edition of the Boston Boat Show will be highlighted by many outstanding nautical features which should prove to be not only entertaining but informative as well. The Show opens at the Hynes Veterans Auditorium, Prudential Center in Boston for a big five-day run, Wednesday, Jan. 30 through Sunday, Feb. 3.

One of the features will be a one hour preview of the "Tall Ships" that will be returning to historic Boston Harbor in May presented by the United States Coast Guard Auxiliary. The Auxiliary's program includes a slide and film presentation, a seminar, boating safety quiz, as well as a question and answer session on all aspects of boating regulations, requirements and restrictions.

The colder you feel, the slower you think and react. To combat this, certain models of the Saab 900 have an electric heating element carefully buried under the seat cushion and backrest. When you start the car, it automatically begins to warm you from the bottom up.

Healthy Issues

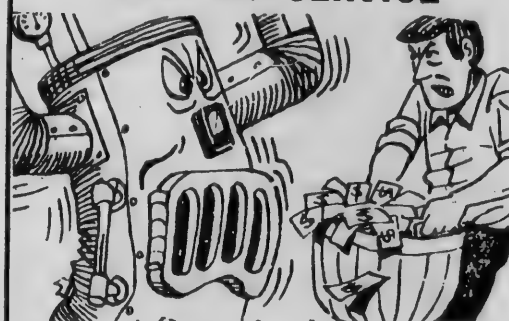

The first mention of cancer evokes feelings of dread and futility. This reaction, although common, is not always warranted when considering the daily advances in the treatment and arrestment of cancer. The fifth "Healthy Issues" program, Jan. 16, at 7:30 p.m. will discuss "Cancer: You can live with it." The program will be presented by Dr. Jack T. Evjy, Director, Oncology Services, at Bon Secours Hospital. Dr. Evjy will cover a variety of topics related to cancer, including its history, biological development, treatment, and effects it has on the patient, family and community.

The program is open to all interested parties and will be held in the Bon Secours Hospital Auditorium. There is no admission fee.

Egg Race At Museum

An eggstraordinary challenge to human ingenuity, the Third Annual Great Boston Egg Race takes place this year March 15, at Boston's Museum of Science.

Competition is held for three categories of participants: children, teenagers and adults.

The race involves transporting an ordinary egg as far as possible, using only the energy that can be taken from a rubber band. The vehicle must selfstart and end the course unassisted. The vehicle traveling the greatest distance along a course 25 meters long and 2.5 meters wide is the winner.

Complete rules and entry forms are available at the Museum or may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to: Egg Race, Museum of Science, Boston, Mass. 02114. Entry forms must be returned to the Museum before March 1.

The Museum course is open several times for trial runs of vehicles under development. These are: Sundays, 9-11 a.m. Feb. 3, 10, and March 2; Thursdays, 2-4 p.m. Feb. 7, 14, 28 and March 6. There is no admission charge on such occasions.

Scuba Course

The Greater Lawrence YMCA Downtown Branch will offer an Instructional Co-Ed SCUBA Class beginning on Thursday, Jan. 24 at 7:30 p.m.

The class is open to men and women 15 years of age and over, participants do not have to be YMCA members to take the class.

The 32 hour program will be held on consecutive Thursdays through March 13 from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m.

Participants must be in good health and be able to pass a swim test in order to take the class. All persons successfully completing the course will receive a YMCA National SCUBA Certification.

SINGLE HOMEOWNERS GROWING

Last year 15% of all FHA-insured mortgages on existing homes were made to single persons. And the rate of single homeowners is growing annually.

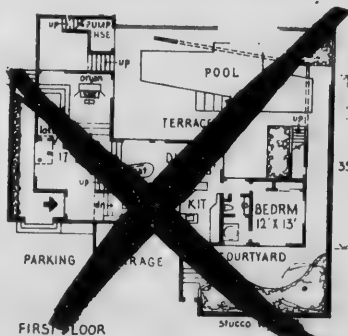

If you're a renting single and this thought has occurred to you, you have some hard thinking to do before you decide to make the plunge.

Not everybody is suited for the responsibilities of ownership. It's a serious commitment. You'll find yourself worrying about things like local tax rates, real estate values, trash collection schedules, and a variety of maintenance chores.

On the plus side, it's a rare homeowner who doesn't feel a tingle of pride in ownership, and who doesn't gain satisfaction from watching his or her equity grow month by month. And at income tax time, there's that nice glow you feel as you chop the cost of mortgage interest and property taxes off the top of your taxable income... not to mention the overwhelming opportunity for a decent profit when it comes time to sell.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at THE HOWE AGENCY, 4 Punchard Ave., Andover. Phone: 475-5100. We're here to help.

*Scratch

we've got a better idea!

We have two new custom designed homes being built by a fine craftsman in the Bancroft School area. You still have time to give us your ideas and have the plans tailored to your needs. Even the advantage of passive solar heat is still a possibility. Come in today and let us help you make your dream house a reality. These new houses start at $150,000.

EXCEPTIONAL NEW LISTING

the arrangement would allow sixth graders access to lab facilities and more specialized educational programs than are now available in elementary schools. This could be done, Seifert said, in a middle school where emphasis would be placed on a flexible administrative structure and flexible class space.

Ninth graders would be placed in a four-year high school, Seifert said. Academically, ninth graders are "in high school" now, but their presence in the high school building would give them a chance to take advanced classes if they are ready for them and participate in extracurricular activities, including interscholastic sports.

Committeeman John Eaton, the only member to oppose the 6-3-3, said he favored the 5-3-4 because of the benefits of the four-year high school.

Chairman Elaine Viehmann agreed with Finn's reasons for accepting the 6-3-3. Committeeman Donald Robb said he opposed the 5-3-4 because it might leave the school system with too much space if school enrollments decline more than estimated.

"I'm afraid of what we might face ten or fifteen years from now: too much space and not convertible space." The 5-3-4 plan called for an addition to the high school of classroom space for 400 students.

Robb added that he felt developmental problems which students face could be dealt with in the 6-3-3 grade organization.

The meeting Thursday began with a presentation by Seifert of the history of school building programs in Andover from 1888 to the present. From the presentation he concluded that "every year has been a bad year to ask for money to build schools."

Seifert presented a list of advantages of having a middle school instead of a junior high, assumptions concerning students today and the curriculums they face and an evaluation of Andover high school, prepared when the school was last accredited in 1970.

Seifert said that of the 15 improvements to the school recommended by the accreditation committee ten years ago, one had been accomplished: the formation of a health program.

The other 14 including the addition of an auditorium, improvement of gym, music, science, art, industrial arts, guidance and library facilities, will be accomplished by the 6-3-3 building plan.

The school is scheduled for inspection in October by an accreditation committee. "I don't see how it's possible for Andover to get ten years of accreditation," Seifert said. "I think in October we're going to have a problem."

Carl Guild, 14 Algonquin Ave., asked what were the specific benefits of the 5-3-4 plan that made it worth the extra $2 million.

"To justify it in quantitative terms," Seifert answered, "is one heck of a job, and I can't do it. But if there is a cost per child that has to be paid, Andover is paying one heck of a price."

Joseph Plati, 7 Lancaster Place, suggested that cost should be the controlling factor in deciding between the 6-3-3 and the 5-3-4. He said the divisions were similar except the benefits of the 6-3-3 "would accrue to one grade down" in the 5-3-4 division. "Unless there's a magic break between fifth and sixth grades," he added.

Lois Haslam, Doherty School principal said the five-year elementary school would provide facilities and programs which would be better "not only academically, but physically, socially and emotionally."

"The cost is worth it," Haslam said, "because that's what's best for the kids."

And I don't say that just because I live in Chelmsford."

Pam St. John, 50 School St., said she looked to the school administration for advice on what grade organization to choose. "I'm looking for leadership," she said, "and if that leadership tells me to spend $ dollars more for a child's need, then the people of Andover will spend that money." St. John's comments were met with applause.

Committeeman Finn said that in the past, including 1979 Spring town meeting, members of the public came to the school committee and supported "quality education" no matter the cost. "We asked for the money from town meeting and didn't get it," he said.

"While there is a group tonight that is in support of quality education, it will not be the same group at town meeting," he added.

He said a defeat of a proposal at town meeting would push back the planning stages of the school building program even further.

In Tune With The 80s!

Authoritative publications on foods and food preparation pronounce that food trends for the 80s point straight toward pure and simpler foods. The stress is on lighter fare, salads and the avoidance of preservatives.

Thus the food direction pointers aim straight at Towne Deli. Fresh foods without preservatives are nothing new here. Our home-made soups and chowders are always made with fresh vegetables and pure milk with nary a preservative in sight. There are no preservatives in our fresh breads and rolls delivered to us daily nor in the meats we heap on those delicious sandwiches you enjoy so much.

Of course, going the fresh, no-short-cuts route plus the home-kitchen type of preparation costs us more and reflects a bit on our prices. However, the satisfaction of knowing you are dodging preservatives and the savory goodness of all we serve are certainly worth a few pennies more.
